

CUSTOMIZE YOUR RETREAT

Together, let's develop a custom retreat, workshop or seminar for your organization.

We can tailor the format, content, date/time to suit your needs. Maybe you want to reward your team for a job well done? Maybe it is time to brush up on customer service skills? Let's discuss your goals, talk details, and then let's make it happen!

Why?

1> Company Retreats Get People Focused

Research has shown that taking healthy breaks and vacation actually boosts overall productivity. Being in a new space that is solely dedicated to a certain project or task will help your company gain more focus. More focus leads to more productivity.

2> Great for Team Building

At an offsite staff retreat, you can do engaging team building activities that you can't do at the office. Offsite locations supply new spaces with new resources to help your team grow stronger.

3> They're Ideal for Bonding

According to Harvard Business Review, teammates who connect directly with each other, not just the team leader, work more efficiently and with greater overall success.

4> Allow for (In-Person) Face Time

Bring your team together for some real face time. Do you have multiple offices in different cities? Bringing everyone to one place to work on a project makes your team feel more connected.

5> Get You Out of Your Normal Routine

Being in a new space when working through an issue can really get your team's brain working in different ways. New setting = new ideas! Let's remove barriers that the office may have in place.

6> Re-Energize Your Team

After a particularly nice day or weekend offsite, team members often feel ready to get down to business when back in the office. They might also feel that they reconnected with their team.
